

A riveting read!

Uncover the fascinating, historically accurate course of action taken to supply water from the Sundays River to Graaff-Reinet.

SALE NOW!
NO

THE CONSTRUCTION OF Van Ryneveld's Pass Dam GRAAFF - REINET

An annotated selection of historical photographs depicting the building of the dam, known as Nqweba Dam since 2001, which supplied free-flowing water to all the properties of the urban centre.

A publication of the Graaff-Reinet
MUSEUM

Discover

how the large volumes of concrete required were produced and placed, the people involved in the construction, how the water was distributed over large distances to farms, and so much more.

This collector's edition quality coffee table book, made possible by the generosity of donors and community volunteers, tells the coherent story of one of the most important engineering events in the history of Graaff-Reinet, South Africa's fourth oldest town.

For more information or to obtain the book,
please contact:

Graaff-Reinet
MUSEUM

Reinet House, Parsonage Street, Graaff-Reinet

Tel: 049 892 3801

graaffreinetmuseum@intekom.co.za

www.graaffreinetmuseums.co.za